Poetry.

Whittier to Colfax.

Colfax!—well chosen to preside
Over Freedom's Congress, and to guide,
As one who holds the reins of fate,
The current of its great debate;
Prompted by one too wise, and good,
And fair, withal, to be withstood,
Here, from our northern river-banks,
I send to thee my hearty thanks
For all the patience which has borne
The weary foot of Bunker's horn,
The hissing of the Copperhead,
And folly dropping words of lead!
Still wisely ready when the scale
Hinges poised to make the right prevail,
Still foremost, though secession's head
Be crushed, with scornful heel to tread
The life out from its writhing tail!
As wise, firm, faithful to the end
God keep thee, pray thy silver friend,
JOHN G. WHITTIER.

A Delightful Italian Village.

Presently we came to Anapacri, cleanest, most picturesque and delightful of Italian villages. How those white houses, with their airy loggias, their pillared pergolas, and their trim gardens, wooded us to stay, and taste the delight of rest, among a simple, beautiful, ignorant and honest people! The streets were as narrow and shady as those of an Oriental city, and the houses mostly presented a blank side to them; but there were many arches, each opening on a sunny picture of slim, dark-haired beauties spinning silk, or grandmothers regulating the frolics of children. The latter, seeing us, begged for bajocchi; and even the girls did the same, but laughingly, with a cheerful mimicry of mendicancy. The piazza of the village is about as large as the dining-room of a hotel. A bright little church occupies one side; and, as there was said to be a view from the roof, we went for the key, which was brought by three girls. I made out the conjectured location of the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth palaces of Tiberius, whereof only a few stones remain, and then found that the best view was the three girls. They had the low brow, straight nose, short upper lip and rounded chin which belongs to the Caprese type of beauty, and is rather Helio-tic than Roman. Their complexion was dark, sunburnt rather than olive, and there was a rich flush of blood on their cheeks; the eyes long and large, and the teeth as white as the kernels of fresh filberts. Their bare feet and hands spoiled by much tramping and hard work, were out of keeping with their graceful, statuesque beauty. A more cheerful picture of poverty (for they are all miserably poor), it would be difficult to find.—Bayard Taylor, in the Atlantic Monthly for June.

A NEW WAY TO GROW POTATOES.—The Louisville Democrat has made a rather important discovery, which we give as follows:

Irish potatoes in great quantities can be grown by any one having four by eight feet of spare ground in their back yard. The process is simple. Procure a crate, such as china ware is imported in, and place in the bottom about six inches of straw, then more potatoes, and so on, until the crate is full. Wet the contents of the crate thoroughly, and every evening afterward throw a bucket full of water over the top surface. The potatoes will grow and produce abundantly. When they are large enough to be eaten they can be easily drawn out and will be found to be perfectly white with a very thin skin. The writer of this article has seen them cultivated successfully on board an ocean steamer.

Religion that does not go with us in our daily vocations, controlling and guiding us is of little value. We should not make it obtrusive or ill-timed in any of its manifestations, but our hearts should be so thoroughly imbued with the Spirit of Christ as to cause every act, in its own quiet way, to show forth the foundation principles of our life, and speak a stronger language for the Master than our direct words. It is in our worldly business, in our every day life, that our religion is needed, if anywhere, both in its effect on ourselves, and on those with whom we are brought in contact.

At a wedding in Delaware, when all was arranged and the minister called on any to speak who objected to the marriage, a husky voice called out: "I do!" All eyes were turned in that direction, when a man emerged from the crowd, holding his handkerchief up to his eyes and blubbering.

"Why do you object?" asked the minister.

"Because I want her myself!"

A young Indian girl who had curiously watched the process of marking barrel heads in a flouring mill in Winona, Minnesota, stole in one day, and taking possession of the stencils, ornamented her blanket with the words, "Ellsworth's choice," and paraded the streets in great delight, but to the disgust of Mr. Ellsworth, who is a bachelor and had made no such choice.

Have you seen Franks Chrono? "Old Oaken Bucket," "Falconer and Bride."

The American Cooking Stove in Court.

At an adjourned term of the Circuit Court of the United States, for the Northern District of New York, in the second circuit held at the City Hall, in the city of Albany, the 28th day of January, in the year of our Lord 1868.

PRESENT:
The Hon. NATHAN K. HALL, Judge.

JACOB H. SHEAR & JOSEPH PACKARD, In Equity

Geo. B. BULL & JOHN M. ROCKWELL, vs.

It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed, that a perpetual injunction be issued in this suit against the defendants, restraining them from further infringement of said Patent, No. 31,406, Dated Dec. 5th, 1865, for improvements in cooking stoves, pursuant to and in accordance with the prayer of the Bill of Complaint.

Signed A. A. BOYCE, Clerk.

The above was instituted for infringement of the Patent securing the manner of fitting the ash pan in the hearth of the American Cooking Stove, and for the combination of the bailed ash pan. We have repeatedly cautioned the public against selling or using stoves with these improvements not manufactured by us. All persons now selling or using stoves with these improvements in violation of the above injunction, without license from us, will be liable to fine and imprisonment. SHEAR, PACKARD & CO.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN DENTISTRY.

The attention of the public is called to a great discovery in Dentistry.

THE GREATEST ADVANCE STEP EVER MADE IN THE ART.

The main difficulty in wearing artificial teeth is, they do not hold in their place, drop enough, and add to this the annoyance of food getting under the plate while eating. I have discovered a method of so constructing the plate on which the teeth are set that they will not start or drop while eating, or speaking, neither will any particles of food get under the plate, no matter what the condition of the mouth is, which is not true of any method hitherto used.

I have secured Letters Patent for the United States, England and France.

The improvement is not in material, but in the construction, which secures the atmospheric pressure on the entire plate.

I have sold the exclusive of said improvement to Dr. L. Gilman, to wit, the Counties of Franklin, Washington, Chittenden, Lamoille and Grand Isle. Those wishing to avail themselves of such improvement, will call on

IMPORTANT TO STOCK GROWERS.

Blood, Beauty, Speed, Kindness and Endurance.

Those who desire to raise first-class stock, and all lovers of good horses, are respectfully informed that the Hambletonian trotting stallion, YOUNG DEXTER:

will stand for a limited number of mares the ensuing season, at the Hambleton Stock Farm, Greenwich, Washington County, N. Y.; season to commence on the 1st of May and to end on the 1st of September. Young Dexter was bred at Chester, Orange County, N. Y., is four years old, by Fryer's Hambletonian, stands nearly 16 hands high, and is one of the best of the get of his celebrated sire, Young Dexter is a half brother to Dexter, George Wilkes, Bruno, Brunette—allied to Mountain Boy—and other well known horses. Very carefully bred, from his size, shape, etc., Young Dexter will not only bring gentle, fine and speedy stock, but also handsome carriage and family horses as well. It is manifestly for the benefit of stock growers, that they obtain only the best of an most popular blood in the country, but also that which commands the highest prices in market, and it requires no more labor or care to raise a good colt than an inferior one. It was with the view to improve the stock of horses in Northern New York, Vermont and New Hampshire, etc., that Young Dexter was purchased by its present owner, Mr. H. C. Page, Editor of the People's Journal—the object being to benefit farmers and stock growers who are willing to undergo the care and expense necessary to the raising of good horses.

For further particulars, terms, etc., address Hambleton Stock Farm, Greenwich, Washington County, N. Y.

E. G. STRATTON, Superintendent.
